Product Description

Let your kids breathe the fresh mountain air, whether you're a mile high or living in the Great Plains. Craggy Alpine brings the mountaineering spirit to any playground, giving school-aged children the chance to scamper up rock walls to see what their world looks like from a more elevated perspective. They can yodel from the top of the structure or sneak a peek at playmates through holes at the bottom of the structure and halfway up the climb. Walls are connected by a series of ladders, including two maze-like Geo Ladders at the center, that encourage children to think laterally as well as vertically. The Craggy Alpine playscape also provides numerous foot and hand holds to make getting up and down easy and safe. Whether you're partial to evergreen walls or prefer a sky-blue design, we can meet the specific color requirements of your play space.
