

Product Description

The Stand-N-Spin is an innovative playground marvel which is bound to fascinate every child who sees it. It is designed to allow users to safely and effortlessly spin around in place simply by shifting their body weight around. They can push off with one foot or have a friend help them get it started, but after that inertia will do the rest. The spinning component has a non-slip platform, semi-enclosed frame, and plenty of bars to grab onto, all of which ensure that users will be safe even as they spin as rapidly as momentum will let them. This is a free-standing structure which does not need any additional support or structures for installation. The spinning component and the two 3.5-inch support posts can be ordered in a variety of exciting color combinations. It is a great addition to almost any playground, since not many have anything else quite like it.
