Product Description

The Free Standing Skylight Trunk Crawler is a small tunnel structure with a woodland theme which makes it resemble a hollowed-out log. The plastic pieces are molded with detailed patterns that resemble natural tree rings and wooden planks. The tunnel has a skylight above it which lets in some extra light, and provides enough space for children to comfortably stand up and look around. This makes the tunnel a cozy place for a child to hang out for a moment, if others aren't using it. This is a free standing item which does not need any additional structures to help support it. Unlike those used in play systems, the Free Standing Skylight Trunk Crawler uses 3.5-inch outer diameter posts on each corner, which makes it cheaper and more compact, but still highly sturdy. This play structure is suitable for kids of all age, but ideal for use by preschool-aged children.
