

Product Description

The Royal Double Station Fit Rider is a total body workout for teens and adults. The rider simply places their feet on the foot rests, grips the handlebars, and then pushes as if they were trying to stand. The Royal Double Station Fit Rider can be used by two people at once, which means that there is no need to exercise alone. In high traffic areas, the double station can be used to alleviate some of the congestion by providing two places to exercise in slightly more space than one would use. Since the station is made specifically for outdoor use, it has galvanized steel and protective finishes to defend it against rust whether it is due to moisture or other forms of weather. The Royal Double Station Fit Rider is a great addition to community centers, neighborhoods, parks, trails, and more.
