

Product Description

Take a seat and start working your butt off. The Royal Leg Press Station is a comfortable, durable outdoor workout device that makes it easy and enjoyable to take in the fresh air while building and maintaining leg muscles, from the quadriceps, to the gluteus maximus, to the hamstrings. Instructions are clearly displayed on both sides of the station, ensuring everyone who happens upon your workout space knows how to safely and effectively train up their muscles. The simple exercise makes it possible for both gym rats looking for a little variety and out-of-shape passersby to get a straightforward, quality leg workout. With two seats, friends, workout partners, and friendly strangers can compete and urge each other on as they tone those quads, glutes, and hammies. The Royal Leg Press Station's steel structure has been powder-coated in attractive but unobtrusive colors to add an alluring, long-lasting piece of health-focused equipment to your park, schoolyard, or other outdoor space.
