Product Description

No playground is complete without a set of monkey bars, and this Curved Ladder Climber is a fun twist to the category. This powder-coated galvanized steel climber can handle up to five children, which makes this Ladder Climber a great option for encouraging social skill development. Approach the varying difficulty levels of this climber by either scrambling over the top to work on balance, or scaling underneath to develop upper body strength. The curvature invites young kids to challenge their athleticism and improve their developing muscles. It also encourages imaginative play by making kids feel like they're climbing a mountain, swinging through a jungle on a vine, or any other adventure a child can come up with. The Curved Ladder C...
